

Problem Solving Treatment (PST) Training and Certification

About the Training

Problem Solving Treatment (PST) is a brief, evidence-based approach for depression that is effective with most patient populations, including patients of many different cultures. PST teaches and empowers patients to solve the here-and-now problems contributing to their depression and increases their self-efficacy.

Psychotherapy plays an important part in a patient's treatment plan, given patient preferences and the limitations of antidepressant medications. Organizations implementing an integrated care program should have capacity to offer an evidence-based psychotherapy such as PST. PST can be billed by licensed mental health providers using psychotherapy codes and by many other clinicians using CoCM codes.

PST Clinician Training Tiers

We offer two training tiers for clinicians:

PST Tier 1: interactive online modules followed by a review and Q&A session, and 6 group case presentation calls; or

PST Tier 2: interactive online modules followed by a review and Q&A session, individual simulated virtual visits, 6 group case presentation calls, and in-depth expert feedback on application of clinical skills based on review of audio recorded sessions.

We encourage all clinicians to pursue PST Tier 2 given the importance of skill-based practice and expert feedback to fidelity standards. Importantly, the evidence base for the effectiveness of PST has been demonstrated using clinicians meeting this level of clinical skill.

Eligibility

Licensed (or license-track) providers such as licensed social workers, registered nurses, and psychologists are eligible to receive training and to become certified in PST.

Prospective trainees must have an active caseload of at least 3 patients experiencing depressive symptoms by the time they begin PST training. Participants must also have a working camera allowing them to turn on their video during the entire training.

Medical assistants and non-clinical staff members (such as case workers, patient navigators, etc.) are not eligible for formal certification in PST. However, these staff members can receive training in Behavioral Activation Strategies.

Intended Audience

- Licensed mental health providers (LICSW, LPC/LMHC, LMFT, PhD, PsyD)
- License-track mental health providers
- Registered Nurse
- Advanced Practice Nurse Practitioners, Physician Assistants, Physicians

Learning Objectives

By the end of this training, participants should be able to:

PST Tier 1 & 2 Part 1:

- Describe the treatment structure and typical session agenda for PST.
- Provide patient education about the link between unresolved problems and depressive symptoms.
- Explain how PST can help patients solve problems and reduce depressive symptoms.
- Explain the rationale for pleasant activity scheduling.
- Compile a comprehensive, non-detailed problem list.
- Teach patients the fundamental PST skills of defining problems, setting goals, brainstorming solutions, making decisions, and creating detailed action plans.

PST Tier 1 & 2 Part 2:

- List common challenges to completing between session plans.
- Explain how to evaluate patient outcomes and address barriers to their action planning.
- Describe strategies to facilitate brainstorming of patient-generated solutions.
- Understand when and how to incorporate relapse prevention planning into PST.

PST Tier 1

This course consists of a series of online modules introducing PST principles, followed by a Q&A session, and 6 case presentation calls. Clinicians will have the opportunity to apply PST to several cases and receive feedback from AIMS Center PST expert trainers on their reported application of clinical skills. Eligible providers can claim up to 10 Continuing Education Credits awarded by the American Psychological Association.

Clinicians can expect to develop beginning skills in PST but will not develop full competency in PST based on session audiotape review to fidelity standards (see Tier 2).

Training Component	Time (per clinician)	Includes:
Online Training and Q&A	5 hours	4-hour self-paced online introduction to the evidence base, foundations, and skills of PST 1-hour review and Q&A session with an expert trainer via Zoom
Case Presentation	6 hours (1 hour per call)	Group calls with 5-8 participants Participants present real cases and discuss challenging and complex case presentations with the trainer

Total Cost of PST Tier 1
Cost of training:	$825 per clinician pursuing 6 case calls*

*We offer "PST Tier 1" as a contract or invoice with the University of Washington.

PST Tier 2

PST training and certification typically requires between 19 to 22 hours of participant time over the course duration. Upon completion of all training requirements, participants receive certification as a PST practitioner. Eligible providers can claim up to 13 Continuing Education Credits awarded by the American Psychological Association.

Total Cost of PST Tier 2 Training and Certification
Cost of training and certification:	$1,425 per clinician
Trainees requiring additional time from the trainer for either 1) Phone-Based Practice Sessions, or 2) Audio Recording Review for Certification to meet certification will be charged per hour in addition to the standard fee	$200 per hour

*We offer "PST Tier 2" as a contract or invoice with the University of Washington.

Continuing Education (CE)

PST training and certification offered by the AIMS Center provides licensed clinicians CE. Clinicians gain a skill that they can use with a wide spectrum of patient populations in a variety of settings. Tier 1 training offers up to 10 CE credits, while Tier 2 training offers up to 13 CE credits. Credits are earned at two different points in the training.

Part 1:

3-5 CE credits available for Tier 1

6-8 CE credits available for Tier 2

- Online modules - Basic Skills/Common Elements: 2 credits (only available to participants who have not completed the BHCM online modules in the last 12 months)
- Online modules - PST: 2 credits
- Live Q&A session: 1 credit
- Individual simulated virtual visits: 3 credits (Tier 2 ONLY)

Part 2:

5 CE credits available (Tier 1 & Tier 2)

- 5 of 6 one-hour case presentation calls: 5 credits

The AIMS Center at the University of Washington is approved by the American Psychological Association (APA) to sponsor CE for psychologists. The AIMS Center maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

CE credits can be used by most licensed mental health providers, including psychologists, nurses, clinical social workers, professional counselors, and marriage and family therapists. Clinicians should check their specific state requirements to confirm that these credits apply to them.

How to Claim

To receive CE credits, participants must complete the training in its entirety. After completing part 1 of the training, participants take a CE quiz and must receive a minimum score of 75% in no more than 3 attempts. The CE certificate will be emailed to the email on record after passing the quiz. After completing part 2 of the training, CE certificates will be emailed to participants who attended a minimum of 5 case presentation calls.
